Doctors Tardis
Masters Tardis

In a Government Research Institute, Professor Thascalos is working on a matter transmission machine known as TONTIT - Transmission of Matter Through Interstitial Time. At the Unit Laboratory meanwhile, Dr. Who works on a 'Time-Sensor', a device which detects disturbances in the Time Field - in particular those caused by the operation of the Master's Tardis. The test run of TONTIT produces a reading on the Time Sensor and sends the Doctor and Jo down to the Research Centre where a series of mysterious and terrifying events are taking place. Sure enough, Professor Thascalos is the Doctor's old enemy, the Master.

(The Master's plan involves the Crystal of Kronos, which long ago enabled the rulers of Atlantis to control Kronos, the Time Monster. a being from outside Time whose tremendous powers brought first prosperity, and then near destruction, to Atlantis. The Master sets off for Atlantis in his Tardis, determined to obtain possession of the Crystal. This will give him control over Kronos and thus power over Time itself. Such powers in the Master's hands could bring disaster to the entire Universe. Jo and the Doctor pursue the Master through Space and Time to Atlantis, where they try to prevent him from gaining possession of the Crystal. They are helped by Dalios, the wise, old King of Atlantis, and hindered by Gallecia, the King's young and beautiful wife, who casts in her lot with the Master. In the final struggle, the full fury of Kronos is released, Atlantis is destroyed and the Doctor comes to a final confrontation with the Master outside Space and Time. The Master is defeated but once again escapes to work more mischief.....)

MASTER: Of course. All or nothing!
Literally. But what a glorious alternative!

DOCTOR WHO: You're mad! You're paranoid!

MASTER: Of course. Who isn't?
I'm just a little more honest than the rest, that's all. Goodbye Doctor.
